

JENNY WORRALL DESIGNS
ENGLAND

My aim with this collection is to create an original range of lamps using the best of British design and craftsmanship. Each piece of glass is blown to our specification, it is then decorated internally by our team of resident artists, using decoupage images and varied paint finishes (adapted from the Victorian art-form of Potichomania). Each lamp, a harmony of traditional skills, leaves our Warwickshire studio as an original work of art, which I hope will bring much enjoyment.

JENNY WORRALL DESIGNS

From her rural studio in the grounds of a 17th century farmhouse, British designer, Jenny Worrall creates a range of unique glass table lamps. Often described as the antiques of the future, Jenny's designs are much sought after by homeowners, interior designers and the contract market alike.

Jenny draws inspiration from the surrounding Warwickshire countryside and historical design archives, to create a range of exclusive decorated glassware which is as quintessentially English as the environment in which it was created.

Combining artistry with traditional skills, each piece of glass is blown to Jenny's exacting specification. It is then transformed into an original and distinctive table lamp, using the Victorian technique of Potichomania.

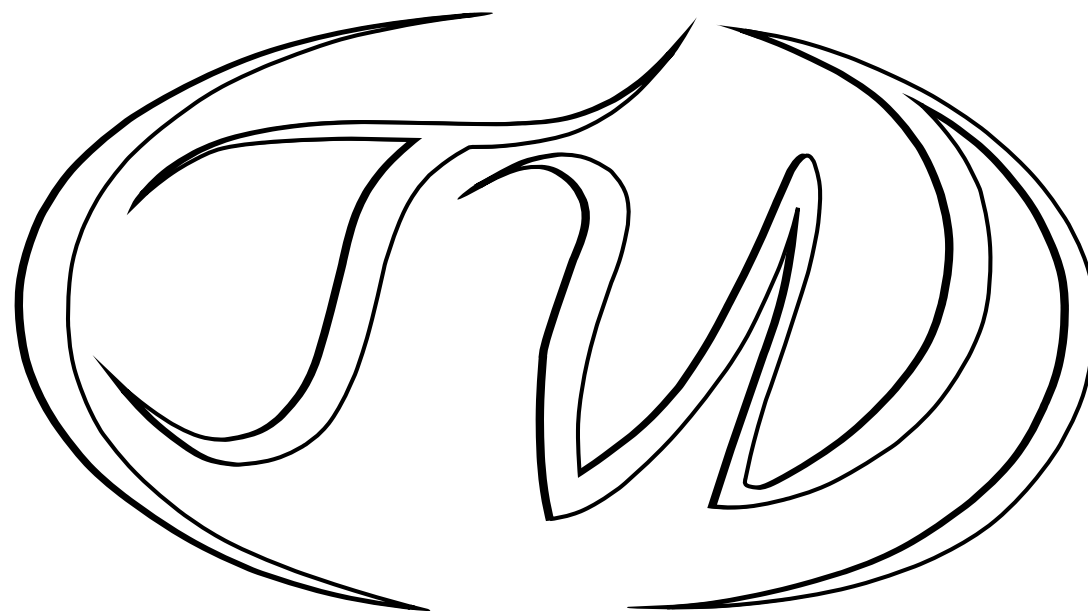

Under Jenny's direction, a team of local artists apply intricately cut-out images to the inside of the glass and complete the effect with a decorative paint finish, making each piece unique and highly individual.

All Jenny's lamps are hand-made to order, allowing flexibility with both design and colour. The products are therefore ideally suited to the contract or corporate market, where a range of signature lamps are required to complement particular design themes.

In this catalogue, Jenny introduces you to her latest pieces inspired by the design archives of the Victoria and Albert Museum and the Royal Horticultural Society, as well as additions to her existing collection.

Jenny has also extended her elegant collection of traditional lost-wax and sand-cast brass candle-stick lamps to include exquisite figurine lamps and candleholders.
